

Vicki Steere is currently the Director of Talent Acquisition Marketing for TeleTech. She is a professional in talent acquisition and retention strategy, enterprise marketing, event management, corporate social responsibility, and nonprofit management. Her personal passion is to make connections... connections for those seeking to hire quality talent, connections for job seekers, and connections in the Denver community.

A veteran in the recruiting/staffing and employment marketing arena, Vicki has worked in marketing, community relations, nonprofit management, and as recruiter. She owned her own staffing agency and started a locally-focused job board which was later acquired by Jobing.com. Throughout her career she has built strong community relationships throughout Colorado and the U.S..

Giving back to the community, Vicki is currently on the board of directors for DenverWorks and the Denver Workforce Investment Board, appointed by the Mayor of Denver. She has served as a board member for the Society for Human Resources Management Colorado State Council (COSHRM), the Colorado Human Resources Association (CHRA), Past President for the Colorado Staffing Association (CSA), the Denver Employment Alliance, board member for National Association of Women Business Owners - Colorado Chapter, and chair of the Colorado Business Leadership Network (a consortium of organizations placing people with disabilities), and, the Colorado Healthcare Association for Human Resource Management (CHAHRM).

She holds a BSBA from the University of Denver, an MBA from Grand Canyon University and continuing education certificates in Strategic Marketing Communications from the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, and Nonprofit Management from Georgetown University.